BREVITIES.

The Union Pacific is coming.
R. L. Fulton is back from the Bay.
Potosi waltzed up to 6½ yesterday.
Supt. Jerry Whited was in town yesterday.

Chancellor Derby drove up to Virginia yesterday afternoon.

Geo. Krog writes that he will be back in Reno in a few days.

Gott. Haist, the well known surveyor, is down from the Comstock.

Loud Agent Mills, of the Central Pacific, will pass through for the East this morning.
The argument in the Reduction Works case will commence in the District Court to-day.

Mr. Reigelhuth's social will be given on Friday evening of this week instead of Saturday.

Alf. Chantz, of the Enterprise, duly reported the Reduction Works case, in true short hand style.

Goods are being sold for much less than we ever expected, is what the ladies say of F. Levy & Bro.'s great sale.

There will be a meeting of the 4th of July Executive Committee this evening at 8 o'clock at the Opera House. Chairman Hymers requests all members to be present.

The Reno Ramblers.

At the regular meeting of the Reno Ramblers' Bicycle Club Sunday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the following year: Dr. Mayo A. Greenlaw, President; G. F. Westgate, Captain; S. E. D. Pinniger, First Lieutenant and Bogler, and Frank A. Barnes, Secretary and Treasurer. Several new members were also elected and it is the intention of the club to have regular club runs at least once a week this season. The Carson wheelman will be invited to Reno shortly to a club run and dinner, when it is expected some arrangements will be consummated regarding races to be held at the State and Ormsby county fairs this summer. The Reno Ramblers' Club is growing slowly but surely. There is no better sport nor no better exercise to be had than by cycling, and the Safety machine has done away with the danger of headers which were such a dread to all new riders. The streets and roads around Reno are excellent for this sport, and any member of the club will be pleased to give any information to intended riders, or those who contemplate purchasing wheels. It is to be hoped that the officers of the Nevada State Fair will soon consider the advisability of assisting the boys towards building a quarter-mile track inside the race track.

Our Cadets.

Colonel Burton, of the Inspector General's Department, U. S. Army, inspected the military department and University cadets of the Nevada State University Monday. First the arms and accoutrements were inspected and then the cadets were put through with the infantry company drill. The Colonel said that the guns were the cleanest that he had ever inspected at any military college, and complimented the company for their entire work in warm terms. Thus it has been proven that the military department is a complete success, being testified to by a United States inspector.

Let the good work go on for the sake of the State as well as the young men personally, and let every encouragement be given by the Regents and the people to this necessary department of our State University.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. Feb. 21-57

The Reason Why.

Governor Stevenson informs the JOURNAL that he has received the invitation to attend the 4th of July celebration at Reno, but in view of the fact that he and his staff and all the military companies propose to attend the State Fair at Reno this Fall, he thinks that he will visit Virginia on the 4th. All right, Governor, Reno is willing to divide honors with her sister towns.

Mistaken Identity.

J. C. Stubbs, Second Vice-President of the Southern Pacific Company, and family went East this morning for a month's visit. —Last night's Gazette.

The Gazette should be more careful in "carrying the news." Mr. Stubbs is the Third Vice-President.

The Body Found.

Arthur Kewley, a rancher at Lovelock, was found in Brown's lake yesterday morning, and his body taken to Lovelock yesterday afternoon. He was accidentally drowned last Wednesday.

JOSEPH HAWORTH.

The Great Actor to Present Mackey's "Paul Kauvar."

Joseph Haworth is the coming great attraction in this city. He will be seen for one night only as the hero of Steele Mackey's great play, "Paul Kauvar." Mr. Haworth comes straight from his recent great engagement at the Bush street theater, San Francisco, which was one of the greatest successes in the history of the theater. He will be seen with exactly the same company which made such a great success in San Francisco. The play is said to be a great one, and in Haworth's hands receives a fine production.

Paul Kauvar is a leader of the revolutionary party, a Mirabeau, however, rather than a Robespierre, anxious to save life rather than to feed the guillotine. He has taken under his protection the Duc de Beaumont, one of the proudest aristocrats of the late court, and has clandestinely married his daughter Diane. The Duc is betrayed by a renegade nobleman who is in love with Diane, and who procures Kauvar's signature to a blank warrant of arrest, and then fills in the name of father and daughter. Kauvar is denounced by both for his apparent treachery, while his wife and the Duc are led to that prison which so seldom opened its gates except to deliver the condemned to the scaffold.

Overcome with emotion Kauvar falls asleep and dreams of Diane's probable fate. The subject of his dream is seen at the back of the stage, which has become darkened. As the light again discloses the scene, the guillotine is beheld occupying the middle of the stage. The soldiers surround the scaffold and the sans culottes press closely in to glut their accustomed eyes on their daily diversion. The knife raised high between its parallel posts is dripping with blood, and the executioner's assistant raises above his head by its tresses the freshly severed head of a woman, while the frenzied mob screams with delight. A young girl, innocent faced and sweet looking, is receiving from a priest, himself soon to die, the last consolations of religion. Then up the short steps leading to the fatal platform Kauvar sees his wife faltering ascend, while the hideous executioner's face assumes an expression of fiendish joy as he extends his claw-like fingers to grasp so fair a victim. Such a tableau has been seen, but seldom on the stage.

Kauvar, when the Duc is summoned to the scaffold, takes his place but escapes from the death cart. Diane and the Duc also escape, all to meet again in La Vendee, where Kauvar is taken prisoner by the King's troops and is placed under parole by his captor, General Delarocoe. In this scene the mob is used with great skill. They break into the chateau of the General and recklessly pull curtains and hangings from the walls, fling pictures and statuary out of the windows, and altogether offer an entirely realistic picture of mob law. Diane is captured by these ravening wolves and is about to be sacrificed to their brutality, while Kauvar is hidden behind a file of soldiers, unable to utter a word until the hour for which he has given his parole shall expire. The scene is extremely exciting and just as the mob are about to murder the girl the clock strikes the hour which leaves him at liberty to protect his wife. The Duc, overcome with gratitude for Kauvar's attempted sacrifice of his life, relents, and accepts the revolutionary hero as a son. It is announced that Robespierre has been executed and that the Reign of Terror is at an end and the fickle mob, which a moment ago defied its revolutionary leaders, now unites in tearing them to pieces, while the curtain falls on the happiness of hero and heroine. The engagement is for one night only and seats should be booked well ahead.

SUCCESSFUL NATIONAL BANKS.

The Boston Daily Advertiser gives the following interesting account of the Maverick National Bank, of Boston, a bank which is as well known in business and financial circles as any bank in the United States:

The Maverick Bank was incorporated in 1854, and was one of the last, if not the very last, incorporated under what is known as the old banking law of Massachusetts. It had a local interest—that is, it was intended to advance the interests of East Boston, which, since 1830, had grown to be one of the most important out-lying wards of Boston. It had established shipyards and other large manufacturing industries; it was the Boston terminus of the Cunard line of steamships, and it had arranged for a series of warehouses and dock privileges which have since become famous in the commercial history of Boston.

In 1875 the bank moved to its present quarters in the city proper, at the corner of Congress and Water streets, in the Post-office square.

But the Maverick Bank of 1854 was but a mere shadow of what the Maverick Bank of to-day is—that is the great volume of its business. The capital remains to-day the same as it was in 1854, $400,000, but its transactions now are immense. When we say that its present surplus is over $600,000, the story of its great success is told.

In many respects its management at the present time is much like that which has characterized the Chemical Bank, of New York, for three-quarters of a century. Asa P. Potter, its present able President, is a born financier. He took to financing naturally, and his early education with Way Warren & Co., strengthened his instinct. As an agency bank, the Maverick stands at the head of the Boston banks. The term agency is susceptible of several interpretations, but we use it merely in the sense of a fiduciary factor; and we do not hesitate to say that under the Presidency of Mr. Potter, few banks in the country have absorbed so much of domestic and foreign business in exchanges and credits as the Maverick National Bank of 1850.

The original Directors were Samuel Hall, Noah Sturtevant, William C. Barstow, Henry N. Hooper, F. A. Sumner. Samuel Hall, the first President, was the well-known shipbuilder of East Boston. Capt. William C. Barstow was the genial Treasurer of the East Boston company, a genuine old salt, and a sociable companion. Henry N. Hooper was then at the head of the great cooper foundry firm of Henry N. Hooper & Co., on Commercial street. Noah Sturtevant was of the old coal firm of Newell, Sturtevant & Co., and a large owner of real estate in East Boston. Frederick A. Sumner was of the firm of Sumner & Swift.

The present Directors are Asa P. Potter, President; Henry F. Woods, Jonas H. French, Thomas Dane, J. W. Work.

—Of the People on—

SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1890,

For the purpose of electing delegates to the said
State Convention, the Primary Election to be carried out in compliance with the laws of the State and the instructions of this Committee.The following test will be required of each and every voter at the said Primary Elections
"I am a citizen of this State and will support the nominees of the Republican party."The following resolutions were unanimously adoptedResolved, That this committee reaffirms the State and National Republican platform of 1888, including the declaration that "the Republican party in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money and that it "condemns all efforts to demonetize silver."Resolved, That the persistent neglect of Secretary Windom to increase the coinage of silver to the maximum of four million dollars per month, coupled with his attempt to influence Congressional legislation so as to perpetuate silver monetization, is a shameful violation of the silver plank of the National Republican platform, an attack upon the rights and interests of the miners, farmers and workers of the land, and an act of party perfidy that should call for his retirement from the councils of an Administration which is pledged to help and not to hinder the demonetiza-tion of silver.Resolved, That the Republican party of this State is in favor of free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver, that it holds to this principle as a test of party faith and a test of party allegiance,
and that it will permit of no abandonment or modification of this doctrine, that let whosoever will prove recalcitrant to the principle of bimetallicism it will remain steadfast thereon, and that it invites all voters in Nevada who favor the repeal of the disgraceful and un-American laws of 1873 by which silver was demonetized, and who desire the establishment of free and unlimited coinage as the law of the United States of America, to join in electing delegates to a Republican State ConventionE. D. BOYLE, Chairman,
